

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

The convergence time of a blind, adaptive equalizer is shortened by using a tracking generator. The tracking generator comprises a smoothing filter which receives and smoothes a tap coefficient error estimate derived from an output data stream. Thereafter, a fraction of the smoothed estimate is generated. It is the use of this function of the smoothed estimate which allows the convergence time to be shortened.

Patented Apr. 20, 1993